Smart Business: TECHNOLOGY

Seamlessly Integrate Your At-Home Employees

Feeling disconnected from your off-site employees? Now you can bridge the gap between them and your corporate voice network with a simple home Internet connection.

With remote phone service, your remote employees will have the same functionality as your on-site employees, including:

- Four-digit dial between employees.
- Outbound caller ID that displays the main office number or other desk number for the remote user.
- Access to another remote user from the corporate directory.
- Unified messaging options such as voice-to-email, fax-to-email and more.

For a streamlined telecommunications experience, try remote phone service for your remote employees and home offices.
